THE P. C.
EDITOR
SAYS—

We have permitted G. W. Anderson to have his say about Leiske, the lecturer or preacher, and have no intention to open our columns for any religious controversy. If such a thing is desired the combatants can rent the Armory and stage their combat. We are perfectly willing that all legitimate preachers may use the columns of The Standard for announcements, but not to prove their stand on the Bible for it cannot be done.

The editor appreciates the publicity given us from the pulpit last Sunday by Rev. Ogilvie. We don't know what he said, but a preacher certainly wouldn't say anything so very bad about such a sinner as I.

The poppy symbolizes the spirit of service and sacrifice, which enabled America to put forth its great World War effort, and this same spirit is needed to meet the difficulties of today.

To be close to a pretty woman with pretty flowers exuding their fragrance ought to satisfy most men that they are near heaven. The smell of brimstone and reflections from the fiery furnace will be but a second consideration to many of us sinners as well as some preachers.

Sheriff Anderson was down from Benton Tuesday to consult the Prosecuting Attorney and other lawyers as to what constitutes a gambling outfit. He stated a number of anonymous letters had been received by him complaining of gambling violations, but he feels that any one who is afraid or ashamed to sign a letter is just trying to get the sheriff to make a fool of himself by having him make raids without evidence. Some local lawyers stated punch boards, slot machines, and racing wheels, were all games of chance and subject to raids and confiscation. One who was standing by stated many gambling outfits said to be in operation in Sikeston and other sections of Scott County were not games of chance as the man who played them hadn't a chance. Anyway, this should be sufficient to let operators know that Scott County and Sikeston are not going to be wide open spots for gamblers and gambling devices.

It seems every recipe was not verified as many mistakes were discovered in the Woman's Cook Book. Those that turn out to be messes instead of culinary delights can be traced to the fact that on this occasion every item was not verified. No, they were not printed in The Standard office.

If the City Council is to have the cabins moved from the Dr. Waters lot in Ward One they should play no favorites but move those out of the alleys. These cabins were built to rent should be moved. The Sunset Addition was set aside for homes for our colored population and there is where they should live. That addition is full of good citizens and they have never tolerated drinking, gambling and the like, and will not welcome that element, but something should be done to clean out the alleys.

The editor is on the spot with some neighbors and just how to clear up the mystery is more than we can do, we fear. At noon the Missus left for St. Louis. Just at dusk in the evening there was a baby push cart left on the walk at the editor's front door. Things looked suspicious, but we swear if there was a woman and baby in the house we couldn't find them and to make neighbors believe this story is the thing that worries us.

Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Reece and Mr. and Mrs. Judson Boardman were in Cairo, Sunday.

City Council Refuses to Move Dr. Waters Cabins

Dr. J. F. Waters and his attorney, M. G. Gresham, appeared before the Sikeston City Council Tuesday night and requested that the city pay for the moving of Dr. Waters' cabins from his lot in ward one to some lot to be procured either in Ward three or four. Councilmen from these wards objected strenuously to any such procedure and the Council as a whole was not in favor of the proposal.

About two months ago the Council ordered the Waters cabins removed and a little later Dr. Waters and his attorney filed notice of application for an injunction and restraining order in the August term of court to prevent the removal of the cabins. Mr. Gresham stated that the cabins in question were now occupied by deserving white tenants instead of negroes and intimidated that the matter might be taken to higher courts if necessary. The Council signified that this was but the beginning of a move to get all undesirable negro cabins removed from the residential districts of the city and located in Sunset Edition.

Battle Royal Fast and Furious; Next Matches to Be in Arena

In the battle royal that took place in the Armory Wednesday night Joe Dillman, of the fuller brush head, was framed up on and was the first to leave the ring after five minutes of wild slugging and bouncing by the five participants. After a minute rest they went at it again and Floyd Byrd lasted another three minutes. Joe Washburn went out in two minutes after the next one minute intermission and hand-some Bill Collins, 196 lbs. wrestler from Houston, Texas was left with the red-faced Lee Meyers of Dallas for the main event of the evening.

In the first fall of the two out of three match between Collins and Meyers the black-haired Collins took it in 18 minutes with a body pin following a flying tackle. Meyers took the second with a Japanese leg hold and surprised the crowd by taking the third in less than five minutes by working on Collins' back knee. Meyers was dirty all through the match and referee Mike Meroney had to warn him repeatedly about choking and using a tape he had on his wrist.

In the preliminary one round match between the first two out of the battle royal Joe Dillman pinned the much lighter but determined Floyd Byrd in 8 minutes with a series of punishing body slams. Byrd put up a good match against his heavier opponent.

The matches next Wednesday night will be held in the open air arena across from the City Hall. Promoter Mike Meroney announced on his card for next

PROJECT FOR HIGH SCHOOL BLEACHERS BEING CHECKED

The completed project plan drawn up by Architect Hal Lynch for the proposed high school bleachers to be located on either side of the football field was received this week and is being checked by Lee Bowman, president of the Board of Education, and other board members, before being sent in to Jefferson City by C. J. V. Conran Again to Head Party in Southeast Missouri

Holding their annual convention in Cape Girardeau last Saturday afternoon and night members of the Young Democrats Clubs of the 10th Congressional District re-elected J. V. Conran, prosecuting attorney of New Madrid County, as president and inducted him as a candidate for the office of state president.

Claude Arnold of Puxico was elected vice-president; Paul Hayes of Poplar Bluff, secretary, and Mrs. Marshall Craig of Illinois treasurer. Indorsement of Conran for the state presidency was voted in the afternoon as delegates assembled at Common Pleas Courthouse to transact the brief convention business.

The largest delegations attended from Scott and Cape Counties and others came from Butler, Stoddard, Pemiscot, Dunklin, Bolinger and Mississippi Counties. Mr. Conran presided at the afternoon session. A brief talk was made at this meeting by Albert Fleschman of St. Louis, national committeeman for Young Democrats Clubs from this state. It is reported that the new organization of Sikeston will be represented and have an official part in this next Conference.

Evangelist Leiske gave a brief report of the work in the South-east part of Missouri and after pointing out the large amount of work that is to be done in this section of the country, the Executive committee of the Missouri Conference of Seventh-Day Adventists voted additional funds for a larger and more extensive program for the Leiske Evangelistic Party in this field.

A full program is planned for the balance of the week with the promise of Sunday night bringing another capacity crowd.

THE ORIGIN OF POPPY DAY

The morning of November 9, 1918, a young Georgia woman, serving on the staff of the Y. M. C. A. Overseas Headquarters in New York City, received a copy of a magazine containing Col. John McCrae's poem, "In Flanders Fields." Touched by the poem's reference to the poppies growing between the crosses of the war cemeteries this young woman, Miss Moina Michael, of Athens, Georgia, decided to wear a poppy in honor of the war dead.

Purchasing a number of poppies, Miss Michael distributed them among the members of the headquarters staff. This was the start of the custom of wearing poppies in memory of the men who lost their lives in the World War, a custom now observed by millions of Americans on Poppy Day, the Saturday before Memorial Day, and by millions of others throughout the English-speaking world.

When the American Legion was organized by the returned veterans, the poppy was officially adopted as the Legion's memorial flower. After the American Legion Auxiliary was established, the Legion's poppy program was turned over to the women's organization and has since been carried out annually by the Auxiliary. Members of Henry Meldrum Post No. 114 Unit of the Auxiliary will distribute poppies here on Poppy Day, Saturday, May 29th.

The Auxiliary women have taken Miss Michael's idea and developed it into a great national program for commemorating the sacrifice of those who died and for bringing aid to those who sacrificed their strength in the nation's service. Early in the winter the making of the millions of poppies which the people of America will wear on their coats the following Poppy Day is begun in government hospitals and convalescent workrooms maintained by the Auxiliary in many parts of the country. Hands of disabled veterans, weary of idleness, are given employment shaping the little red flowers. Sick and discouraged men whose spirits have sunk to despair from long unemployment are given the encouraging experience of again earning money.

A penny apiece is the usual amount paid for each poppy made, and a man, if not too badly disabled can easily turn out 300 a day. The number each man is permitted to make is restricted in order that he will not overtax his strength and to spread the work among as many men as possible. The work is restricted to disabled veterans receiving little or no government compensation and men with dependent families are given preference.

To pay the workers and purchase the materials is a problem in financing which the women of the Auxiliary have worked out. This year, when approximately 12,000,000 poppies have been made, the earnings of the disabled men have amounted to $120,000. The work has been carried out in 56 hospitals and workrooms in 40 different states.

The distribution of the poppies except in a few southern localities, is a one-day nation-wide endeavor conducted on the Saturday before Memorial Day. On that day an army of nearly 100,000 volunteer workers from the Auxiliary takes the poppies out on to the streets and pins them on the coats of passers-by. By nightfall the little crimson symbols of remembrance bloom on millions of lapels and the coin boxes carried by the women are heavy with offerings which will mean relief for countless victims of the war during the year to come.

Wearing the poppy draws its wide appeal from its dual purpose of honoring the dead and serving the living. Every poppy worn on Poppy Day means that the wearer has thought, at least for a moment, of the men who lie beneath the poppies in France and has contributed something to the relief and rehabilitation of those who are still suffering from results of the war, the disabled, their families and the families of the dead.

It begins to look as though Rattle-snake Lewis and his C. I. O. organization are heading the United States into a second communist Russia. His organization is making rapid strides toward organizing every branch of labor in the United States and when that is completed look out for Lewis to take charge of the affairs in the United States after the plan in Russia.

Tuesday morning we carefully checked each member of our office force, men and women alike, and to the best of our knowledge and belief all were sober Monday when the paper went to press. However, we are unable to account for the fact that the date line on each page read: "Tuesday, May 29." It must have been the polecat!

The poppy is the flower of the World War dead. By wearing it we can pay them a personal tribute, and by our contribution in exchange for the poppy we can aid those who are still suffering from the results of the war.

The poppy stands for the highest conceivable type of service and sacrifice. It has been chosen by the American Legion as its Memorial flower because the returning soldiers carried the memory of the poppy covered battle fields of France. Each year on the Saturday before Memorial Day the public is asked to wear this memorial flower and make some contribution to aid the disabled veterans who sacrificed health and strength, and to their families and to the families of the dead veterans.

A house to house canvass will be made and all contributions in exchange for the poppies will be received with thanks.

DEXTER GIRL QUEEN AT POPLAR BLUFF JUBILEE

Miss Virginia Lee Ballif of Dexter was crowned Queen of the annual Poplar Bluff Ozarks Jubilee at ceremonies held in the high school auditorium last Saturday night following an estimated attendance of over 20,000 for the final day of celebration. Spring showers prevented holding the coronation ceremonies in the stadium as was originally planned.

The candidate from Sikeston was Miss Nancy Ann Ponder, a member of the 1937 graduating class of Sikeston high school. The contestants were preceded on the stage by Miss Emma Jane Cramer, who was chosen Miss Poplar Bluff and hostess queen, and Mrs. Harold Williams of Charleston, formerly Miss Juanita Converse, who was 1936 Jubilee Queen. Secretary of State Dwight H. Brown delivered the coronation address.

The float parade Saturday afternoon was two miles long and 20 bands and drum and bugle corps paraded. Float awards were Cape Girardeau, first; Flat River, second; and Newport, Ark. third.

The Southeast Missouri Drummers Association held in connection with the Jubilee decided to meet next year at Fredericktown. New officers elected were: Edward Rauth, St. Louis, president; George Carroll, Cape Girardeau, vice president; Edward Traub, St. Louis, secretary; George Dredge, St. Louis, treasurer; and Bert Martin, Fredericktown, warden.

The Department of Agriculture plans to study the possibilities of flood control on more than 200 watersheds throughout the country, as listed in the Omnibus Flood Control Act of 1936. Specialists will first make a preliminary study of each watershed to make sure that benefits from flood-control measures would exceed estimated costs. If so, the Department will survey the watershed in detail and report its findings to Congress as a guide in authorizing control work.

SCOTT COUNTY FARM BUREAU NEWS

Saw Sheep Treated

Six farmers last Friday saw Philip Bucher of New Hamburg treat twenty-two sheep for stomach worms with the Bluestone-Nicotine treatment at a cost of less than 1 cent per sheep.

The meeting was arranged by County Agent Veatch. The sheep were penned up the night before and treated at nine A. M. during the meeting. Some showed signs of worms by coughing and general lack of vigor. Those attending were very interested in seeing the treatment given. Otto Diebold gave a short talk on marketing wool cooperatively.

Army Worm Poisoning Demonstration

Farmers in the immediate neighborhood of S. R. Shuchart, west of Sikeston, are interested in the results of an army worm poisoning demonstration put on at his farm last Saturday by County Agent Veatch and his assistants.

Army worms had invaded a 10 acre field of barley. Samples taken at random showed great damage had already been done. Mr. Schuchart pulled 30 stems and found only three heads, a 90 per cent damage. The rest had been cut off by the worms and were lying on the ground. In other spots the damage was from 60 to 80 per cent.

A poison bait, made of 25 pounds bran, 1 pound white arsenic, two quarts blackstrap molasses, and two gallons of water, was spread very thinly around the edges of the field where the worms are passing on their way to the wheat and meadow. They naturally prefer grasses and small grains and Mr. Schuchart has taken additional precaution to keep these confined to the barley. He plowed a furrow around the field and has a helper dragging a gate post behind a mule along the furrow. This kills a lot of worms that escape eating the poison and fall into the furrow unable to climb out. Mr. Veatch says the worms, when full, unless killed will pupate and then turn into a moth that will fly out and lay more eggs that hatch into more worms.

Farmers Are Clipping Weeds

Since last week farmers from over numerous parts of the county have clipped the weeds off their meadows, especially lespedeza.

W. Sayers Tanner near Sikeston, Leo Westrich of New Hamburg, and several around Illinois and Kelso have mowed their weeds off meadows.

Emil Dohogne of Kelso has gone a step further by raking and removing the clipped weeds from off the field. County Agent Veatch says this will remove any seeds that might possibly germinate and grow even after clipping. It removes a lot of wild onions and garlic and also shepherds purple curled dock, cheat, wild barley and buckhorn.

Hoppers Gaining

Roy M. Johnson, Sikeston reports increases in grasshopper numbers, as do E. W. Elliott and Carl Hodges, north of Miner Switch, and L. W. Heisserer of Kelso. While great numbers are hatched, it seems that many egg pods are being plowed out which will be hatched in a short time.

These reports indicate a more serious infestation than was anticipated last week. This means that a constant watch should be kept and any grasshoppers that are seen should be reported to either the county committee or to the Extension office at Benton.

Poison bait, if used when these pests are young, will give very good results. Sawdust, bran shorts or cheap flour, used as a carrier for white arsenic is considered best. The county committee, consisting of Roy M. Johnson, Sikeston, L. W. Heisserer, Kelso, and Ernest Hanselman, Oran, are expecting a supply of poison at any date. This poison is being furnished through an appropriation made by Congress for grasshopper control work.

County Agent Veatch advises farmers mixing their own poison if the federal poison is delayed. White arsenic can be purchased for about 7 1/2 per pound, which will make the bait cost about 3 cents per acre. This is very cheap insurance, he adds, when entire crops are at stake. Full details for mixing and scattering can be secured at Mr. Veatch's office in Benton.

Reports of grasshoppers are coming in fast. Each farmer should act at a committee of one to see that the committee learns of the infestation on his farm.

Potato Bug Control

Colorado potato beetles, a small round black and yellow striped beetle, are easily controlled, says our County Agent. Three heaping teaspoonfuls arsenate of lead to 2 gallons of water, adding about the same amount of hydrated lime, makes an excellent spray. Spraying gives a better coverage than sprinkling. If a spray is not convenient, then a dust can be used. Arsenate of lead and lime, using 8 table-spoons of arsenate of lead to five pints of lime. Mix thoroughly and dust the vines with mixture.

Ornamental Shrubs

Aphids or plant lice are covering new growth on ornamental shrubs. A spray of 1 teaspoon of Black Leaf 40 to 1 gallon of soapy water will kill these pests. A one-inch cube of soap is sufficient for a gallon of water. Spray thoroughly, being sure that all of the stems and leaves are wet.

These same aphids attack garden plants, especially cabbage. The same spray will control them.

In winning third place the Highway Patrol tied the pistol record that has stood for six years only to learn that the St. Louis police had raised the record in the meet by 26 points. The St. Louis Police have three past national champions on their team.

Capt. Sheppard said the St. Louis Police stated they would have to do better next year to keep the Patrol from taking the championship away from them.

SHIPMAST LOCUST POSTS LAST CENTURY IN GROUND

Fence posts that have been in the ground for 125 years and still are in fair shape were found by Oran Raber of the United States Department of Agriculture in tracing the history of the shipmast locust on Long Island and in other parts of New York State, New Jersey, and Massachusetts.

Other posts were found that had been set 80 years ago, indicating that this particular variety of the locust, which has not been described previously in scientific papers, is even more hardy and lasting than other varieties of the common locust which itself is an unusually durable wood. A Department of Agriculture circular includes a technical description.

In describing the shipmast locust Raber says that it has a more erect stem with less spread at the base, a narrower crown, thicker bark with deeper furrows, more durable wood, and fewer flowers with greener calyxes than the common locust, in the same locality.

It is also different because it fails to develop seed which will germinate. As a result the shipmast locust must be propagated by sprout or root cuttings. It often attains a height of 75 feet without the waves and crooks so common in other varieties of locust. It is particularly desirable for posts.

GOVERNMENT WILL KEEP PLANT PESTS OFF GUAM

Two United States Government departments, Agriculture and Navy, will co-operate to keep injurious insect pests and plant diseases from gaining entrance into the island of Guam, either in or on plants and plant products arriving on vessels or planes. Guam is governed by the Navy Department as is American Samoa.

The Governor of Guam has promulgated regulations which govern the entry into that island of plants and plant products from all countries and localities to prevent the introduction of insect pests and plant diseases. These regulations will be enforced by R. G. Oakley, of the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, Department of Agriculture. Mr. Oakley has been stationed at Mayaguez, Puerto Rico, for the last 6 years.

Intercepting plant pests immigrants at Guam is an additional safeguard for Hawaii and the mainland. Without plant quarantine restrictions, Guam could easily become a stepping stone for these pests from the Far East.

Mr. Oakley will inspect planes, and steamships landing at Guam, disposing of plant materials on board which violate quarantine regulations. He also will co-operate with the naval government in solving entomological problems on the island. Enroute to Guam he will stop in Hawaii for the purpose of collecting a supply of the Bufo toad which is a voracious insect feeder. These will be liberated in Guam in the hope that they may reduce the insect population there.

Safetygrams
BY
FRED W. BRAUN
The Safety Man

There is only one important element in the matter of accident prevention and safe driving on our highways. That is "brains." There is nothing difficult or mysterious about safety. Neither is there anything to be ashamed of. It requires no extraordinary genius, college degree, or special training to be safety minded.

The application of a little horse sense will prevent most of the accidents that now occur on our highways. Safety is 99 per cent common sense; accidents are 99 per cent thoughtless hurry.

We cannot blame the automobile for the causes of our accidents, because senseless machines have never caused an accident. Let's apply some brains to our driving and watch the results. It's smart to be careful.

Elder John B. Hoffman Explain Which Is The Christian Sabbath Day

Next Monday evening, commencing about 7:35, Elder John B. Hoffman will devote one hour on front porch of his residence, located between the Trousdale and King filling stations, on Highway 60, west of Frisco railroad, in west part of Sikeston, to a detailed explanation, "Which is the Christian Sabbath Day, the Sabbath of Creation or the Sabbath of Redemption." The crowd can be seated on front porch and in the yard surrounding and next to G. D. Hutchison's cottage.

This Bible lecture will be given by special request of some Sikeston citizens and Elder Hoffman will give a thorough and detailed explanation of this puzzling question, and show by every test, and according to the Word of God, which is the real Christian Sabbath to be observed. Having devoted 40 years to close study of the Word of God, having read it through 15 times before he attempted to do much preaching, this writer feels, after having preached and taught and lectured in many States of the United States and Canada, and having made a specialty of expounding deep prophetic things, including the Revelation, that he is competent to handle this subject thoroughly.

I regret that, due to not having yet been able to sell one of my farms, which I gave to the Sikeston Church Building Fund, the church building has not been erected. Every penny of the sale of this farm goes to the Building Fund, as soon as a sale is made, whenever that occurs, erection of the house of worship will be commenced on the lots, 18 and 19, Block 18, McGoy-Tanner's Third addition to the City of Sikeston, which was purchased and paid for in 1932.

Wish I had a building which would seat a thousand for this service, but this is the best that can be arranged at this time. Everybody invited to hear this Bible lecture at the home of Elder John B. Hoffman Monday evening, May 31, 1937, commencing about 7:35. People will be seated on front porch, in yard and surrounding points, and across the highway, if necessary.

Remember the date, the subject, "Which is the Christian Sabbath, the Seventh or the First day of the week."

—John B. Hoffman.

Dunaway, chairman of the auditing committee, reported the books in an excellent condition. Mrs. C. A. Dr. Adams was coming down from St. Louis on the bus when a he-woman, who could not find a vacant chair to put her seat, after standing by the Doctor's chair for half an hour, said to him: "If you were my husband I would poison you." The Doctor looked up at her and said: "And if you were my wife I'd take it."

Here's hoping our teachers will return to us in the Fall much refreshed by their vacation. They stand at the head of good citizenship in the land and to them are entrusted the care and education of the men and women of tomorrow. If it were not for the teachers, the preachers and the editors the people would soon turn back to ignorance, intolerance and crime. These three units working in unison are the balance wheel that keep the country on an even keel and they are the poorest paid and the most abused of all.

NOBODY LOVES A FAT MAN NOR A TUBERCULAR MAN

The adage that "nobody loves a fat man" does not necessarily apply to the tubercle bacillus, the germ which causes tuberculosis, according to an educational bulletin released today by the Missouri Tuberculosis Association. Fat people and those of normal weight may have the disease as well as people who are thin and undernourished, the organization states.

"Because wasting away of the body, and thin, emaciated appearance is usually associated with tuberculosis, many persons who are overweight believe themselves immune to tuberculosis. This is a false belief, as there are many cases on record of tuberculous persons who are excessively fat. Frequently their disease has progressed to an advanced stage before it is discovered because they cannot reconcile the idea of fat in the presence of tuberculosis, even though the usual symptoms may exist," the bulletin states.

Rapid loss of weight is often one of the symptoms of tuberculosis, although the peculiar body mechanisms of some patients cause them to add weight faster than the disease can destroy it. Usually the course of the disease is slower in fat people than in those of sub-normal weight. Obesity is more often observed in tuberculosis patients among women than among men.

"Almost everyone comes in contact with tuberculosis germs at sometime. Whether or not these germs spread in the body and cause active disease depends upon the individual's resistance and the massiveness of the infection. Therefore, no one should believe that he cannot possibly contract the disease. The safest way for fat, thin, or normal weight people to be sure is to have a general physical examination at least once a year, accompanied by X-ray pictures of the chest. In this manner the examining physician can detect early tuberculosis and begin treatment while there is still opportunity for an early cure," the Missouri Tuberculosis Association says.

The mother and sister of Vernon Dorrough from Birmingham, Ala., are here for a two weeks visit with Vernon and family.

"Not A Comfortable World,"

Dr. Lee Tells Graduates

Dr. Umphrey Lee of Vanderbilt University in his address Monday night to the largest graduating class turned out by Sikeston high school did not paint the usual rosy picture that is so often dished out to high school graduates at commencement time. Instead he told them they were being graduated into a world which is anything but "comfortable," and which requires "intelligence and not blind goodness" to adequately meet the "intricate and numerous problems it will present."

Dr. Lee's talk was short, but to the point. He drew for the graduates a vivid picture of the complications presented by life today in a world that is rife with "fool blundering to say nothing of the many vicious influences at work." He struck, however, a cheerful note in his speech when he recalled that no matter how strong the influences for selfishness and greed there is always that vast undercurrent of friendship and love for fellowman, regardless of race or creed or black shirt or brown shirt, that is the hope of the world.

Dr. Lee reminded the class that the so called changes in the morals but in things mechanical and in methods of transportation and communication. He pointed out that the radio effects only the hearer, not the speaker. "A mule braying is still a mule braying whether he be in front of a loud speaker or alone in a pasture."

OLD FRENCH CANNON FOUND

Ottawa, Ill., May 18.—An old cannon, found in the bed of the Illinois River near and believed by State Representative Edward G. Hayne to have been part of the fortification of Fort Saint Louis in the eighteenth century, is to be offered to the State as a memorial to Robert Cavalier.

The cannon, which Hayne said still holds an original shell, was found by dredgers, who sold it to a junk dealer. Hayne purchased it and had it mounted on a concrete pedestal. He said he would offer it to the State to be placed atop Starved Rock, near here, site of Fort Saint Louis and now a State park. The cannon, weighing about 800 pounds, has a gun barrel 2 1/4 inches in diameter.

FURTHER IMPROVEMENTS FOR PATRONS

Carpenters are busy on our second floor making some vital changes in arrangements. Twenty-one full size rooms are being constructed in which complete ensembles may be placed showing pieces just as they will appear in home settings. This plan has for some time been used by Lammerts of St. Louis—Marshall Field of Chicago and other city stores but we know of no other furniture building in small cities of Missouri that has sufficient space for the carrying out of such a plan. This forward move is being made to give further advantages to our trade in making furniture selections. One of the best equipped furniture stores between St. Louis and Memphis is none too good for Sikeston. In just a few days this new lay out will be ready for inspection.

GOOD BYE—GLAD THEY'RE GONE

Twenty-two ice refrigerators were loaded out at one time this week, the sale being made on a furniture dealer in Illinois. Many of these were excellent boxes—cost a lot of money when new—but are obsolete now because few families—even on farms, use ice refrigerators these days. These ice boxes were taken in trade on Frigidaires and were sold to this dealer at a trifling price—in fact a losing price. And while on that subject prospective Frigidaire buyers should understand that old ice boxes are next to worthless and will only be taken in on trades from now on at just about junk prices.

LINOLEUM DEPARTMENT STEPPING UP

Since an expert linoleum man has been with us orders have come in from Charleston and East Prairie as well as Sikeston—keeping the force busy cementing inlaid to floors. Stocks are being gradually increased and new ways of laying featured which give each customer something different from the floor of her neighbor. An attractive display space awaits you.

TO REWARD CAREFUL SCHOOL BUS DRIVERS

Six hundred school bus drivers of Missouri are to be rewarded for their faithfulness to duty and their carefulness in handling the lives of their daily charges, it was announced recently by Lloyd W. King, state superintendent of public schools.

Application blanks are being mailed from Mr. King's office to the schools of the state which operate buses, which are to be filled out for state awards, if the drivers have operated throughout the year without serious accident involving damage or loss of life.

Last year, 579 drivers drove a distance of 2,160,000 miles without serious accident wherein lives were lost, with Christian county leading the list with 35 drivers who completed the year without accident of any kind.

Missouri's plan of transporting high school students by bus to central high schools has made available high school educational facilities to 10,000 additional boys and girls, according to Mr. King.

MISSOURI HISTORY

Courtesy Missouri Historical Society

Dr. Antoine Saugrain

An advertisement in the Missouri Gazette dated May 26, 1809, announcing the reception of the first supply of small pox vaccine ever received west of the Mississippi, recalls the colorful career of the man whose signature it carries—Dr. Antoine Saugrain, prominent pioneer French physician of St. Louis.

Termed the "first scientist of the Mississippi valley" by one of his biographers, the life of Dr. Saugrain is outstanding not only its scientific significance, but because of its many romantic elements unusual even for the day in which Saugrain lived. French royalist, brother-in-law of the undeservingly notorious Dr. Guillotin, friend of Benjamin Franklin, Indian fighter, scientist in the service of the Spanish king and St. Louis physician, the colorful and checkered career of Antoine Saugrain touches the history of France, Spain and America while episodes of his life relate to such historic events as the French and American revolutions, the Lewis and Clark expedition, the famed colony of French emigrants at Gallipolis on the Ohio and the transfer of Louisiana.

Born in mid-eighteenth century France of a line of "librarians, booksellers and printers", Antoine Saugrain studied as a lad in his teens in Paris in an age when revolutionizing discoveries, including the chemical experiments of Lavoisier and Benjamin Franklin's memorable experimental identification of lightning and the electric spark, were exciting new trends in scientific method and giving rise to new systems of philosophical thought. As a participant in the same intellectual atmosphere in Paris of which Benjamin Franklin partook, tradition asserts that it was directly from Franklin that the youthful Saugrain received the impulse which determined him in his scientific career and sent him on his first visit to America.

About 1784, after having pursued studies in physics, chemistry and mineralogy, and when but twenty-one or twenty-two years of age, Saugrain entered the service of the king of Spain for the purpose of examining mines and minerals in Mexico. Of this early phase of his life little is known beyond the facts that after returning to France in 1785 he made a second trip to Mexico in 1786 after which he again returned to France. It is said that while in Mexico he was the friend of the "enlightened" viceroys, Don Galvez.

After these trips, it appears that Saugrain was never afterward able to shake himself of the attraction which life in the wilds possessed for him. Almost immediately after returning to France he sailed in 1787 for America in company with M. Raquet and M. Picque, the latter a philosopher and botanist, with Kentucky and the valley of the Ohio as his objective. The stated purpose of this trip varies, part of Saugrain's biographers saying it was scientific, others that the object was to find a suitable spot for a French settlement. This venture terminated disastrously, Picque and Raquet being killed by the Indians and Saugrain himself narrowly escaping with his life after thrilling adventures which are related in an account left by him.

In April, 1790, after a visit to France, Saugrain again returned to America, this time with the ill-fated party of French immigrants destined for Gallipolis on the Ohio. At Gallipolis, the aeromoters, thermometers and phosphorous matches which Dr. Saugrain manufactured in his little back room won for him a reputation as a scientist throughout the American settlements of Kentucky and Ohio. According to a sketch of his life published in 1827, Dr. Saugrain at this time also became widely known among the inhabitants for his success in inoculation for the smallpox. Many, it is stated, went to him at Gallipolis to be cured.

After six years at Gallipolis and sometime in Lexington, Kentucky, and Portage des Sioux, Missouri, Dr. Saugrain moved to St. Louis in 1800 where he was appointed post surgeon by the Spanish lieutenant governor, Delassus. After the transfer of Louisiana to the U. S. he was appointed army surgeon by Jefferson, a position in which he served until 1811.

At St. Louis Saugrain established a reputation as a physician and scientist. According to a tradition, which has been accepted by certain authorities, he was sought out by Lewis and Clark whom he supplied gratuitously with a medicine chest, barometer, thermometer and matches of his own manufacture for their historic expedition.

Until his death in St. Louis in 1820, Dr. Saugrain was known far and wide for his chemical laboratory and for his experiments with electricity. It has already been stated that he was famed for his treatment of smallpox. In consideration of the unusual interest of his life and the scientific importance attached to it, it is to be regretted that so little is known of this man who gave to the St. Louis of his time an intellectual and scientific atmosphere unusual for a frontier community.

SUPT. ELLISE HONORED AT JUNIOR CHAMBER MEETING

Supt. Roy V. Ellise was the guest of honor at the Junior Chamber of Commerce meeting Tuesday night at the Palace Cafe and he was presented with a gold watch fob by the organization in appreciation for his helpful work with the members as an organization, and many of them as students under him at school. Mr. Ellise has always referred to the Junior Chamber organization as "his boys" since such a large percentage of them have graduated under him from Sikeston high school.

The Chamber decided to have a picture of the group made at the next regular meeting. Plans were discussed concerning the organizing of a girl's softball team to play a girl's team from St. Louis representing the Vess Bottling Company.

Kemper Bruton reported the census, which is almost complete, showed around 6300 residents in Sikeston. The completed census will probably run in the neighborhood of 7000 population.

The possibility of staging the beauty pageant June 7 on the football field in case the weather permits was discussed and such plans will probably be made. The pageant committee reported around 50 merchants entered and indicated that they were having difficulties in getting enough girls to represent the various business houses.

The group decided to furnish sprinkling facilities for children during the hot days of summer and Dr. T. L. Chidester was made chairman of the arrangements committee. It is planned to have a sprinkling place in the north end of town and another in the south end if possible. Twenty-two members attended the meeting.

To the Editor of the Sikeston Standard

Dear Sir: The following statement appeared in one of your paragraphs "This Man Leiske lectured or preacher is as smart as chain lightning and seems to know his Bible forward and backward".

I do not know just how smart chain lightning is, but I do know that Mr. Leiske does not know much about the Bible. He does not know in order for a man to teach the Bible he must have a Bible subject, he has been with us for sometime and preached a number of sermons but not in a single instance has he had a Bible subject, and if he stays a year he is not likely to have, for he does not know any better than to think he can teach the Bible without a Bible subject.

Let me ask you this question could a man teach history without a historical subject? Could a man teach any book unless he had a subject of that book? The Bible is no exception.

The greatest subject in the Bible is "Jesus Christ." But Mr. Leiske has never had him for his subject.

The next greatest subject in the Bible is the "apostles", he has never had them for his subject. A man to be able to teach the Bible must be a man who is able to diagram his text and see what the subject is, and then teach the same subject as the inspired man did.

But where is all this confusion coming from? It is coming from people who don't know any more than Mr. Leiske does, for instance one of their great preachers came to town a few years ago. I well remember one of his subjects was "Old Shoes and Crocodiles" he made some converts, and those same people are confused by Mr. Leiske who does the same thing.

Mr. Leiske has agreed to debate his doctrine but put it off 'til the end of his program. And it is likely his program will last as long as he does, but I hope not.

I would suggest that you give him all the space you can spare him for if there is anything this country needs it is something to arouse the people, to the fact that something is seriously wrong—G. W. Anderson.

SUNLIGHT INJURIOUS TO LUNG TUBERCULOSIS

Sun bathing and exposure of the chest to direct summer sunlight may be harmful to people pulmonary with tuberculosis. This was the warning issued by the Missouri Tuberculosis Association.

"Sunlight undoubtedly has a powerful influence on tuberculosis. Dr. Rollier of Switzerland has demonstrated its healing effect on cases of bone and joint tuberculosis. Tuberculosis of the skin and glands also respond well to light radiation, both from the sun and from ultra-violet ray lamps," the association states.

"Use of sun treatment for lung tuberculosis is considered by many doctors to be dangerous. A few specialists are using it cautiously in selected cases in an attempt to improve the general health, which, presumably, increases the patient's resistance to the disease. The consensus is that direct sunlight in doses large enough to be called "treatment" may stir a latent or dormant tuberculous area in the lung into activity. That is so serious a risk that common sense forbids, in the present state of our knowledge, the treatment of lung tuberculosis with sunlight, except in the most expert hands and with the utmost care."

For the average person not afflicted with tuberculosis, moderate and gradual exposure to sunlight has been found to be beneficial in building and maintaining general good health, the organization points out. Severe burning should be avoided at all times as the sun has the power to destroy the cells of the skin just as a hot iron has.

Tanning is Nature's method of protecting the body from the effects of sunlight. People with blonde or red hair should be especially careful to avoid too much exposure because they sunburn easily.

Pre-School Health Clinic Being Held This Week At South Grade School

At the Thursday morning session of the Health Clinic being held this week at the South Grade School, thirteen children who will enter school in September were given a thorough health check-up by Dr. John Ben Jones and the nurses assisting him. A long afternoon session, well filled with appointments, was anticipated.

All parents who were not able to take their children on Thursday, are urged to do so on Friday, the second and last date of the clinic. An appointment is not necessary. The Friday session will begin at 8:00 a. m. and continue throughout the day.

The clinic has been planned to make possible for every child of age to enter the Sikeston Schools in the fall a thorough physical examination. Parents are asked to be present at the examination in order that they may personally receive the advice of the doctor regarding needed corrections.

The clinic is being conducted by the District Health Unit and Mrs. Della Poe, Sikeston School Nurse.

In the past week, Miss Ruth Peters, Scott County nurse, with mothers of the P.-T. A. unit which is sponsoring the clinic has made approximately one hundred visits to homes with children of age to enter school. Mothers assisting Miss Peters were Mrs. George Faris, Mrs. L. H. Hatfield, Mrs. M. S. Tomerlin and Mrs. T. A. Martin.
